Luke's Wings Raises $1,600 at Second Fundraiser with a Third Fundraiser in the Works to Raise Money for American Service Members at Military Medical Centers

Rockville, MD, (May 16, 2008) – On Tuesday, April 29th Luke's Wings held its second fundraiser at Tattoo Bar on K Street, Washington D.C. where 160 attended an evening of music and dancing to raise money for American service members recovering at various medical centers in Washington, D.C. $1,600 was raised to purchase the first airplane tickets for families, who otherwise do not have the means, to visit loved ones recovering at various military hospitals including Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Fletcher Gill, co-founder, was quoted as saying: "Our event was very helpful to our cause. Small events like this have very little up-front cost and therefore very low risk. We simply asked for donations at the door and walked away with enough money to purchase plane tickets for an entire family."

On Thursday August 21st, Luke's Wings will host their third fundraiser at The Rookery on Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington D.C. The goal for the next event is to raise enough money to fly the second and third beneficiary family to either Walter Reed or Bethesda Naval.
